TOWNE TALK

"Just for Fun"

By RAS BERRY

They is a lot of the boys which went trout fishing Tues. mt. so that they could be there at dawn and catch the fishes early in the a. m. and Julius Jensen says some of them was crazy enough to take along tackle and bait.

Julius says that back in Wisconsin the fishing places used to make it a rule that anyone who actually tried to fish would be fined $5.

Ed Huddleston says trout fishing beats the deep sea kind plenty. Ed says somebody told him once that the best there is in a man comes out when he goes on a trip and Ed says he guesses that's so because he proved it the last time he went deep sea fishing.

They was a time when guys went fishing to get out into the open and away from the crowd, but now the crowds around the trout streams is so dense they is traffic cops to see that everybody fishes in turn and everybody gets a chance.

A trout stream on the morning of May 1 looks like the faithful gathering at the River Jordan.

You stay up all night of April 30, drive 200 miles, elbow your way through the throng to the streams, and catch three minnows and a bad cold.

The wise ones don't fish at all but stay in the car and lie to each other.

Then when you come home why your wife says how was the fishing and you say oh it was fine I made seven straight basses.

And she says I thought you went after rainbow and you say I did and found the end of it.

They is other fishermen which comes home and say they caught the limit and what they mean is that they held a straight flush against four aces and a king full.

Harry Dolley says now that the season is open they is a big demand by fisherman for galloping cubes and bicycle cards.

I was awful sorry that I couldn't go for the opening of the season this year because if they is any one thing I hate to do it is fish.

Richfield Earnings Go Up 60% Over Year Ago; to Pay $1.63 Share

Net earnings of the Richfield Oil Company of California for the first quarter of 1929, after depreciation, depletion, abandonment, drilling expenses, interest charges and allowance of $150,000 for federal income tax totalled $1,927,262, equal after preferred dividends to 91 cents per share on 1,917,388 common shares outstanding at the end of the period in question. These earnings were an increase of $726,789 or 60% over the corresponding period of 1928 when $1.02 per share was earned on 1,749,060 shares, according to report of James A. Talbot, chairman of the board to the stockholders. On the basis of common stock outstanding March 31, 1928, earnings for the first quarter of 1929 would have amounted to $1.62 per share. The 74,326 share increase in outstanding common stock in the 12 months in question is the result of conversions of bonds into stock, the issuance of stock against common stock warrants, as well as the conversion of Pan American Western Petroleum Company's "B" stock into Richfield common.

Production of crude oil and gasoline during the period covered by the report was 3,149,000 barrels, compared with 2,457,000 barrels during the first quarter of 1928 and 1,549,000 barrels in 1927. Production is coming from 56,633 acres of proven and potential oil lands and there are 25 wells now drilling.
